

Company Profile

Since its inception in 2011, Eminent Crisis Management Group has grown into a global security risk management company providing full spectrum security and advisory services to governments, industry and private clients worldwide. Eminent has evolved from providing locally based services in the United Kingdom to a full international portfolio of security consultancy and support. The management team have worked tirelessly in their aim to compete with other global businesses in the marketplace. These efforts are now being recognised and commended as a result of the way in which we deliver our full range of services.

With absolute unrivalled experience in complex and challenging environments, we now have the professional knowledge, understanding and experience to provide fully integrated services that meet all requirements and to the highest of standards. These high standards are assured, respected and maintained through our global network of associates and the extensive specialist security and industry experience of our management team. The business is also now proud to be associated and supported by a senior member of the Abu Dhabi Royal Family. This important development once again demonstrates the positive direction that the company continues to move in. It also provides evidence of our respect and standing in the security market and further evidence of growth.

Our consultants are drawn from a cross-spectrum of different backgrounds. We unite former South African and United Kingdom Special Forces personnel, Police and members of the United Kingdoms' Intelligence Agencies with academics, financiers and world-class business professionals. The unifying factor throughout this exceptional workforce is their proven track record of achievement and excellence in challenging environments, which is equally matched by our highly experienced management team. Extensively practiced in planning and conducting a variety of demanding operations in a multitude of complex environments, the team coordinates efforts to ensure and maintain the very highest standards of service.
